

Innovation Forum – 2017 events schedule

January-June 2017:

Sustainable smallholder development: Empowering farmers and delivering at scale

14th -15th March 2017, London

The third in a global series of events on the issue, this conference will focus on how companies can engage, and are engaging with, smallholder farmers in key agricultural areas to drive sustainability, improve yields and become more sustainable.

Innovation for sustainable agriculture

22nd-23rd March 2017, Washington DC

A two-day forum designed to debate how business can most efficiently improve sustainable agriculture production, raise yields and deliver against company objectives.

More details on the event website:

www.innovation-forum.co.uk/sustainable-agriculture-forum

How business can tackle deforestation

3rd-4th April 2017, Washington DC

The latest in our global series and held for the third time in North America, the conference will focus on company work towards zero deforestation targets, covering forestry, land use, palm oil, timber, beef and other key commodities.

How business can tackle modern slavery

25th-26th April 2017, London

A practical, focused conference to provide business delegates with the guidance to proactively mitigate the risk of modern slavery taking place in their operations and supply chain, and how to effectively respond to discovered cases of slavery.

Sustainable apparel forum

9th-10th May 2017, Amsterdam

A two-day conference focused on the social and environmental challenges facing the apparel industry from end to end. Looking at the entire textile cycle, from raw materials, to manufacturing, to finished product through to reuse and recycling.

How companies can better structure corporate affairs and sustainability for effective government engagement

June 2017 London

A two-day, cross-industry conference focusing on the biggest issue facing companies committed to sustainability and human rights targets: How to engage Governments around the world on longer term thinking.

July-December 2017:

How business can tackle deforestation

September 2017, Singapore

How business can tackle modern slavery and forced labour

October 2017, Washington DC

Human rights and business forum

October 2017, London

Innovation for sustainable agriculture

November 2017, Brussels

How business can tackle deforestation

November 2017, London

Sustainable sugar forum

December 2017, London

More event details to be announced soon.

Email: info@innovation-forum.co.uk for details or check out www.innovation-forum.co.uk